

Social Story for the Sensory Supermarket (Supermarket Experience)

The supermarket experience is within our main space.

This space is designed to be like a real supermarket where you can buy food.

Parts of the supermarket have been changed to make the sensory aspects more challenging.

For example, there might be unpredictable loud noises and strong scents.

There will be challenging sensory inputs throughout the experience.

At times there may be up to 15 people in the supermarket space. This means it may feel crowded.

Some people may find the sensory environment challenging. It might make you feel stressed or upset.

You can leave the supermarket space if you are finding it difficult.

You can also take a break and then come back later during your time slot.

At the end of the session you can visit the supermarket in a more accessible way if you want to.

You do not have to go to the supermarket space if you do not want to.
